

Detailed Directions to Camel's Hump State Park

Burrows and Forest City Parking Areas in the town of Huntington:

From the upper parking area you can access the Burrows trail, which is a 2.4 mile hike to the summit of Camels Hump. From the lower parking area you can access the Forest City trail, it is a 3.8 mile hike to the summit of Camels Hump by the Forest City trail to the Long trail via Wind Gap, or a 3.2 mile hike to the summit by forest City trail to the Burrows trail via Forest City connector.

From the west travel on VT Rt. 116 from Bristol to its junction with VT Rt. 17, turning right onto VT Rt. 17 go about 7 miles to a left turn onto Gore Road, which turns into Main Road. Proceed on this road for about 6.2 miles to Camel's Hump Road in Huntington Center, turn right onto Camel's Hump Road, and go about 2.6 miles to the Forest City Trailhead or 3.4 miles to the end of the road for the Burrows Trailhead.

From Interstate 89, use exit 11. Travel east on VT Rt. 2 to Richmond, turn right at the traffic light onto Bridge Street, proceed on this road, which turns into Huntington Road, then Main Road, just over 9.4 miles to Camel's Hump Road in Huntington Center. Turn left onto Camel's Hump Road and go about 2.6 miles to the Forest City Trailhead or 3.4 miles to the end of the road for the Burrows Trailhead.

Monroe Trail Parking Areas in the town of Duxbury:

From the upper parking area you can access the Monroe trail, which is a 3.4 mile hike to the summit of Camels Hump. From the lower parking area you can access the Camel's Hump View trail, a 0.8 mile universally accessible loop trail. The lower parking area also serves as the winter parking lot.

From Burlington and other points north, use exit 11 on Interstate 89. Travel east on VT Rt. 2 through Richmond to Jonesville, turn right across the Winooski River bridge, then quickly turn left onto Duxbury Road, which becomes River Road at the Bolton/Duxbury town line. Follow this road about 5.8 miles to the stop sign at the base of Camel's Hump Road. Turn right on Camel's Hump Road, and go about 3.2 miles. The lower/winter parking area will be towards the left. The Monroe Trailhead is 1/3 of a mile further.

From Montpelier and other points south, use exit 10 on Interstate 89. Travel south on VT Rt. 100 to the traffic circle, then east on Rt. 2 towards Waterbury. From the circle travel just under 0.2 miles, turn right onto Winooski Street and follow this road to the end, crossing the Winooski River. Turn right on River Road and travel about 3.8 miles to a stop sign at the base of Camel's Hump Road. Turn left onto Camel's Hump Road and go about 3.2 miles. The lower/winter parking area will be towards the left. The Monroe Trailhead is 1/3 of a mile further.

Bamforth Ridge Parking Area in the town of Bolton:

From this parking area you can access the Long Trail. From here it is a rugged but scenic 6.2 mile hike south to the summit of Camels Hump. If you are looking for a shorter hike it is only 1.6 miles to a scenic view at "Duxbury Window".

From Burlington and other points north, use exit 11 on Interstate 89. Travel east on VT Rt. 2 through Richmond to Jonesville, turn right across the Winooski River bridge, then quickly turn left onto Duxbury Road, which becomes River Road at the Bolton/Duxbury town line. Follow this road about 3.1 miles to the Long Trail parking area on the right.

From Montpelier and other points south, use exit 10 on Interstate 89. Travel south on VT Rt. 100 to the traffic circle, then east on Rt. 2 towards Waterbury. From the circle travel just under 0.2 miles, turn right onto Winooski Street and follow this road to the end, crossing the Winooski River. Turn right on River Road and travel about 6.5 miles to the Long Trail parking lot on the left.

Appalachian Gap Parking Area in the town of Buel's Gore:

From this Parking area you can access the Long Trail, from here it is a rugged 12.5 mile hike north to the summit of Camels Hump.

Approaching from the west it is about 9.6 miles on VT Rt. 17 from the junction with VT Rt. 116 near Bristol, approaching from the east it is about 6.1 miles on VT Rt. 17 from the junction with VT Rt. 100 in the Waitsfield area.